MALAYSIA: Quality in Education: A Values-Based Approach

by Shahida Abudl Samad

Twenty four participants from various departments of the Ministry of Education participated in a Living Values training program, all of whom were carefully chosen as they were all critical components of the educational process in Malaysia. Representation was from those who are responsible for developing moral education syllabus, teachers, and school inspectors (those who evaluate the schools, teachers and its teaching methods). Set in a retreat environment and lasted from 19-22 April, the program was very intense. It started daily at 8AM and ended at 10PM with appropriate breaks. The outcome of the training was the Curriculum Development Center of the Ministry of Education committed to the following:

- Integrate approach and content learnt at the LVEP training into the Malaysian Moral Education Curriculum.
- Moral education lessons to be activity-based using strategies from the LVEP Educator's Kit.
- Values need to be taught across the curriculum and not as a subject alone.

Funding for the translation of the Values Activities and the Training Manual was offered by the Islamic Education Foundation and the Head of the Department of Islamic Schools has indicated interest in training all Islamic School Principals.
